A New Digital Experience: Southern Folger's Website Redesign

We're thrilled to announce that beginning in July, Southern Folger will be launching a brand-new website! This exciting development marks a major step forward in growing and modernizing our brand. With a fresh design and a user-friendly product catalog, the new site will provide a streamlined experience for anyone looking to explore who we are and what we offer.

Our updated website is designed with both functionality and convenience in mind. Visitors will be able to easily submit contact requests, browse current job openings, and sign up for our training classes. Whether you're a long-time customer, a potential partner, or someone interested in joining our team, the new site will make it easier than ever to connect with us.

Beyond its improved usability, the website will also be a rich resource for information. You'll be able to read our latest newsletters, explore our company's proud history, and dive into highlights from some of our favorite projects. It's a great way for both customers and employees to stay informed and inspired.

So when the new site goes live next month, we invite you to take a look around! Discover our network of distributors, learn more about our legacy, and enjoy some behind-the-scenes videos. Whether you're a customer or an employee, take a few moments to explore everything the new Southern Folger website has to offer—we're confident you'll like what you see.

Summer Hydration Program

Summer in Texas can be scorching, so staying hydrated is more important than ever. At Southern Folger, we want to help our manufacturing team beat the heat. Starting Wednesday, May 21st through Friday, September 19th, refreshing drinks and treats will be available in the Main Building Breezeway. Stop by between 9:30 and 9:45 AM to cool down and recharge. Thank you for your hard work—let's stay cool, stay safe, and keep up the great work this summer!

A New Era in Training

If you attended the opening of the Southern Folger Training Center, you experienced the impressive transformation firsthand. From updated landscaping and branded flags outside to new flooring and lighting inside, every detail has been refreshed. Now fully operational, the Training Center is gearing up for its first session. Southern Folger is finalizing training materials and welcoming sign-ups from new trainees. With its modern design, enhanced curriculum, and cohesive brand integration, the new Training Center is well-equipped to prepare the next generation of professionals for excellence.

A Word From our President Stronger Together: Breaking Down Silos to Improve Lead Times

As we continue our company-wide initiative to reduce lead times, I want to take a moment to acknowledge the hard work happening across all departments—and to emphasize the importance of working even more closely together as we move forward.

Improving lead times is not just a production challenge or a front-end task. It's a company-wide journey that depends on seamless collaboration between project coordination, order processing, materials management, and our production teams on the shop floor.

Now more than ever, we need to break down any remaining silos that may exist. Departments must strive to understand each other's processes, challenges, and timelines. The better we communicate, anticipate, and align our efforts, the more efficient and responsive we become—for each other and for our customers.

This means timely handoffs, proactive problem-solving, and a shared commitment to continuous improvement. Whether it's ensuring accurate information flows from project coordinators to order processing or eliminating bottlenecks in production, each step we take together brings us closer to our goal of delivering industry-leading products faster and more reliably.

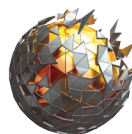

Thank you for your continued dedication and teamwork. Let's keep pushing forward—together.
